

THE POEM. THE PICTURE. THE CIGAR.

IN THE CLOVER.

BY OUR OWN HIRED POET.

Red Clover! Ah, this brings
From the far past, on memory's wings,
A throng of long-forgotten things.
Here in the smoke-cloud that I raise,
There forms a scene of other days,
The music of the waving trees;
A song of birds, a sky of blue;
The quail's bold whistle, full and true;
And from the burnished ring-dove's throat
His oft-repeated love-lorn note,
While nearer and in clearer light
There forms a more entrancing sight—
A clover meadow, rich with bloom,
Filling the air with soft perfume,
While in the blue-white vaporous swirl
Rises the figure of a girl
Whose eyes, love-lighted, tender, sweet,
Bewitch the fond youth at her feet.
She weaves a fragrant clover yoke,
And not a single word is spoke;
But when the last pink bud is tied
Noosed is the lover at her side.

Ah, that was many years ago,
But this cigar, as I have sung,
Through summer, shine and winter snow
Brings back the time when I was young;
Brings back that happy day of old;
Brings the Red Clover and the girl
With eyes of blue and hair of gold.

RED CLOVER.

A REPRODUCTION FROM THE FAMOUS PAINTING.

WHEN we first took hold of the RED CLOVER CIGAR we thought it would take a full brass band of forty pieces to sound its praises to the world in strains of gladness.

A BRASS BAND WON'T REACH IT IT WON'T DO THE SUBJECT JUSTICE.

It will take to-day more than a score of forty-horse-power calliope to toot the truth as it should be tooted to the people of this Nation concerning this great and good cigar.

RED CLOVER CIGARS

Are sold by us all over the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky, and an active demand has sprung up on Puget Sound, in far-off Washington.

THEY MUST HAVE IT.

Expert smokers acknowledge its unrivaled superiority. The filler is of the best Havana grown upon the island of Cuba, the Queen of the Antilles, and the wrapper is from the island of Sumatra, the Jewel of the Orient, the finest leaf produced on the planet. And your dealer will furnish you this choice ten-cent cigar for a nickel.

FOR ONLY FIVE CENTS.

If you smoke the RED CLOVER once you will buy it ever after in preference to any Cigar in the market.

DANIEL STEWART,

Sole Agent for the United States.

INDIANAPOLIS.
